A hurried trip back to the hotel and a few introductions, and the happy elopers were made one.

Mr. and Mrs. Pyles at once telegraphed "the old folks," and all will be well when they return.

A LEAD PIPE CINCH

Was What the Maysvilles Had Yesterday Afternoon.

The locals had an easy time of it yesterday afternoon with the Bellevue Browns.

Wellner twirled for the home team, and had he been given the proper support would have shut the visitors out.

The locals settled down after the third inning and played the game.

The visitors gave the bummiest exhibition of fielding seen here this season.

Hayes and Tenley, that played such good ball here with the Georgetown, played with the Browns, and each had a very "yellow" day.

Wellner's pitching was the feature of the game.

The following is the score:

THE LONG, LONG AGO.

Dan Spalding Grows Reminiscent, and Writes of Old Friends.

[The following letter, written some time ago, was accidentally mislaid.—Ed.]

LOUISVILLE, August 13th, 1894.
Thomas A. Davis, Esq.—Dear Sir: I notice in THE LEDGER some days since the death of two of our old and worthy citizens and my early friends—Christopher Russell and Mrs. Araminta Miner. I knew them well in the days of long ago. The last time I met Araminta some years ago she reminded me that we were the last of two large families, and the youngest of each. She has "crossed over" and I am still on this side, it may be for a few more days or years at most. So far I have been blessed with health of body and peace of mind and lived to see twenty of my grandchildren grown to man and womanhood, with a few who have not quite reached there yet, with ten great-grandchildren who can be heard. Out of nine children seven are left, between the ages of sixty-four and forty-nine years, all enjoying good health, for which I have cause to be thankful.

When I look back to old Maysville I find but few of my old friends left, of which your Uncle is one among the oldest. Sister Mary, her sister Jane, and Uncle Jake comprise about all I can think of at this time. I must not forget your Aunt Hettie, for she was one of my Sunday-school children. I think out of the entire class she is the only one left.

I hear from you daily through THE LEDGER and friends, and weekly through THE Bulletin, and I would not exchange these for all the papers I take, and I take quite a number and pay the subscription.

"Go thou and do likewise."
The old town and citizens are to memory dear, and my earnest desire is when life's trials and troubles are over we may be permitted to strike hands on the banks of eternal deliverance where parting will be no more forever. With kind regards to old and young friends I remain yours truly,
D. SPALDING.

DIDN'T TAKE WINE.

The Charge Against Evangelist Fife Fully Disproved.

In the month of June a union meeting was held in Cynthiana by a number of the Pastors, conducted by Evangelist W. P. Fife and his assistant, Mr. G. W. Argabrite.

Shortly after the departure of these gentlemen a report was circulated that one or both of them had taken wine at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington on the 4th of July.

Upon inquiry made by the Pastors, the following denials were received, together with references to certain well known gentlemen whose replies are published herewith:

MR. FIFE'S DENIAL.

The report is absolutely false. Will take a solemn oath I have not taken a drink of wine, whiskey, beer or cider since 17th October, 1887.

Governor Bob Taylor of Johnson City, Tenn., also Colonel McCormick of Henderson, Ky., sat at table with Argabrite and myself. There was wine on table, but it was not touched by any of us.

Similar denials were received by Elder G. W. Yancey, Rev. R. C. Hubbard and others.

In a later communication, written at Northfield, Mass., Mr. Fife says: "Publish all the letters. I think it best. State it is by my request. If the party has anything to say, you can get another letter from John Duley, a Methodist Steward of Maysville, who was at table with me before these gentlemen came in."

MR. ARGABRITE'S DENIAL.

In a letter to a friend, under date of July 16th, among other things Mr. Argabrite says: "I say, right here, that neither Bro. Fife nor I drank wine at Lexington or at any other place."

MR. DULEY'S REPLY.

STATE NATIONAL BANK, MAYSVILLE, KY., July 18th, 1894.

Rev. G. W. Yancey, Cynthiana, Ky.—Dear Bro.: Yours of the 16th inst. to hand. I sat at a table just opposite Bro. Fife. Did not know he was in Lexington until he came to my table and stood and talked with me while. He then took his seat at his own table, and while my order was being filled I went over to his table and had quite a chat with him about his work here and at your place. I saw him touch no wine, nor did I hear him order any. He may have had tea, which, from its color, might be mistaken for wine. I was with him after dinner, and did not detect any odor of wine. I do not believe there is one word of truth in the report.

GOVERNOR TAYLOR'S REPLY.

JOHNSON CITY, TENN., July 18th, 1894.

Mr. R. C. Hubbard, Cynthiana, Ky.—My Dear Sir: I am receipt of your letter of the 14th inst. It affords me great pleasure to state in defense of Mr. Fife and his assistant with whom I dined at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington, Ky., on July 4th, that they were both duly sober, and they did not taste wine, or any other intoxicant in my presence. Any statement to the effect that they did is utterly false, and without foundation. Very respectfully,
ROBERT L. TAYLOR.

COLONEL MCCORMICK'S REPLY.

HENDERSON, KY., August 17th, 1894.

Rev. R. C. Hubbard, Cynthiana, Ky.—Dear Sir: I am advised that a rumor is current in Cynthiana to the effect that Evangelist W. P. Fife, G. W. Argabrite, Governor Bob Taylor and myself dined in company and that some of the party took wine at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Ky., on July 4th. To shield from injustice two innocent and I believe pious men, I make the accompanying statement, which the entire party will corroborate, if so ordinary an occasion has not passed from their memory.

On July 4th, 1894, after I had addressed the Chautauqua Assembly, I dined at Phoenix Hotel in company with Governor Taylor, Rev. W. P. Fife and G. W. Argabrite. I particularly recall the occasion, as after speaking my thirst seemed unquenchable, and I drank heartily of water, finally satisfying my thirst with sherbet.

Governor Taylor, who was to speak at 2 o'clock, took scarcely any dinner, and I think less than a glass of water. Fife and Argabrite—probably each of them—drank iced tea. This fact is impressed upon my memory, as it was discussed and I stated my objection to it. As I wrote you in a previous letter on this subject, I was satisfied some person had mistaken iced tea for wine, and that an innocent mistake was behind the accusation. I am still inclined to this opinion, as I hesitate to believe that anyone would malign any humble worker in the service of God. No wine was ordered or drunk by any member of the party, and the conversation was of an elevating character. In fact Mr. Fife seems to be a man who carries his religion to the table, as he does into the pulpit.

If testimony under oath can add any force to the word of a gentleman, I am willing in the interest of justice, to attach my affidavit to the foregoing. Can you publish this? Respectfully,
S. D. MCCORMICK.
